Dear Elsie,

This article is a follow up of our telephone conversation. Thank you for your willingness to report on our Garden Club in your column. Please feel free to edit in any way. If you have any questions, I can be reached at 952-8961.

Sincerely,

May Kemp
Publicity Chairman

The Mount Airy Clay Breakers Garden Club had a wonderful Christmas meeting at the home of Julie Harrison. A program on Christmas decorations was presented by Julie, President Phyllis Tucker, and Ann Williams. Julie gave everyone a gift of a booklet that she had printed. It contained Christmas memories and recipes that had been contributed by all of the Garden Club members. She also presented prizes for the best recipes and stories, as chosen by an independent Judge. Esther Neckere played her violin and led everyone in the singing of carols. The program finished with a gift exchange. It was a BEAUTIFUL evening of fun and fellowship.

The next meeting of the Mount Airy Clay Breakers will take place at the home of Phyllis Tucker on January 11th. Members are reminded to bring "nice White Elephants" to be auctioned off as a fund raiser.
